, IDAHO EXTENSION PLAN OF C. & N. W.

From Lander, Wyo., to Pocatello to Enter Puget Sound Region.

ACTIVITY OF RIVALS CAUSE OF THE MOVE

Closer Traffic Agreement at Pocatello for All Northwestern Freight Traffic.

From the latest news obtainable the Chicago & Northwestern has plans for an extension that will build up castern Idaho to a large extent. It is a direct extension from Lander, Wyo., its present terminus, to Pocatello, McCammon or ne point near there where a good connection can be made with the Oregon Short Line. The great rivals of the Northwestern, the Burlington and the Milwaukee, have been gradually extending into the west, and now the Milwaukee has its own line to Puget sound and an Oriental contract with one of the Kisen Kaishas, while the Burlington is also at Lander and likewise into Monlana and to the coast through the Hill lines, owned by the same parties. It would not necessarily mean that the close agreement between the Union Pacific and the Northwestern would be abrogated, but rather strengthened, as Pocatello could be named as the barrier and a still closer traffic agreement made. But the Northwestern having so great an interest in the territory served by the Milwaukee, must secure its own line to the Pacific northwest and the short line from Lander to Pocatello and a close traffic alliance with the Oregon Short Line at that point would solve the question. an Oriental contract with one of the

NAME OF HARRIMAN

USED IN DISCLOSURES

MEMPHIS, Aug. 11—Disclosures of a most sensational nature, involving high former officials of the Illinois Central railroad in the conspiracy by which the Memphis Car company defrauded the railroad of hundreds of thousands of dollars, were made here today when a decree was issued in the chancery court.

H. McCourt, a general superintendent of the southern lines of the Illinois Central, and W. S. King, general superintendent of the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroad, have made voluntary restitutions of $13,000 in cash, it is said.

Mentioned in the decree as stockholders also were the names of Frank B. Harriman, general manager of the Illinois Central. William Renshaw, until May 1, 1908, superintendent of machinery; Joseph E. Buker, assistant superintendent of machinery and John M. Taylor, general superintendent of the Burnside shops, Chicago.

A deed was recorded in the register's office here today by which the Memphis Car company transfers to the railroad all its property in this city.

This transfer, it is understood, amounts to about $200,000. The railroad sued for $300,000, alleging large frauds in charges made against it for the repair of cars, and alleging that men in the road's employment had been in collusion with the Memphis Car company.

It is understood that criminal prosecutions will follow.

That George C. Parkinson had appropriated the funds of the company to his own use, and allowed others to do so.

That the funds of the company were comminged with personal funds, and that the system of accounting had been so imperfect that the company had suffered greatly thereby.

First—that during the year 1904, notwithstanding the fact that George C. Parkinson drew the treasurer's fall salary, he did positively no work as treasurer. That during the years 1904, and 1906, and until the time of his resignation in 1907, he performed only a part of the treasurer's duty, though besides drawing the full treasurer's salary, he filed bills for services rendered and expenses incurred at Boise and elsewhere.

After reviewing the testimony of the witnesses, the written evidence submitted, and the circumstances connected with the case, your committee has reached the fol-

Conclusions:

The taxpayers of the Oneida Irrigation district confided their business, in full confidence to the officers of the company, consisting of a board of three directors (two of whom acted as president and secretary), and a treasurer. That the office of director, secretary, attorney, and acting treasurer were for a time held by one person, and that after a deputy or acting treasurer did the work of the treasurer, and this arrangement, we believe, is largely responsible for the present unfortunate condition of the company.

We find that while drawing the pay of the treasurer, George C. Parkinson intrusted the handling of the company funds almost exclusively to the secretary and acting treasurer. The treasurer being the only person responsible under bond, for the handling of the company funds, we hold that any irregularity which may have occurred in the handling of such funds is chargeable to him.

We find that there was great carelessness in keeping the accounts of the treasurer's office, no proper system of accounting having been adopted until after large amounts of company funds had been received and disbursed. Had a proper system of accounting been adopted in the beginning, many of the errors made in the management of the affairs of the company might have been avoided.
